Your International Summer School Course – Experiential learning

- Study a variety of art forms (theatre, music, dance, visual arts) via trips to performance venues and museums;
- Undertake significant hands-on research with artefacts both at the Hunterian and in Special Collections at the University of Glasgow;
- Introduce students to different histories, theories and practices of cultural production
- Enhance students’ critical awareness of contemporary approaches to curatorial practices
- Encourage students to engage critically with a broad range of cultural practices
- Widen students’ communication, collaborative and research skills, enhancing employability

By the end of this course students will be able to:

- Critically analyse key historical, theoretical and methodological issues of cultural production
- Exhibit critical openness to unfamiliar approaches, genres and ideas
- Present ideas critically, clearly and coherently both in class discussion and the final presentation
- Demonstrate an ability to produce an imaginative presentation on a chosen subject within the parameters of the course that stimulates group discussion and facilitates and encourages further study
HKU equivalence: Common Core

- The Summer Session of 12 credits in Glasgow is equivalent to 6 HKU credits.
- Students can apply for a credit transfer.
- The Summer session would satisfy one (1) HKU Common Core course out of the six (6) required and fall into either Global Issues or Arts and Humanities Area of Inquiry.
